Milan, Italy

The former Archiepiscopal Seminary – Europe's oldest – was built in 1564 and, until now, has never been open to the public. Following a renovation project by Ferragamo-owned Lungarno Collection and architect Michele De Lucchi, Corso Venezia 11 is the address of Milan's latest destination hotel. Through the splendid Baroque archway is the striking new 3,000sqm new Piazza del Quadrilatero framed by a double colonnaded loggia, which will house restaurants, boutiques and a wellness centre, while 73 rooms and suites on the first floor will have views over Milan's rooftops. Inspired by the salotti – or living rooms – of the 1950s, the rooms evoke the city's most glamorous old houses. In spring, The Longevity Suite wellness spa will open.
